About the Keynote Speaker

Sally A. Jackson became president and CEO of the Greater Columbus Chamber of Commerce in March. She guides the Chamber in leading economic growth and development for Greater Columbus on behalf of the 35-member board of directors. This role is the latest in a 20-year career of public and private service.

Prior to joining the 4,800-member organization, Jackson was president and CEO of the Illinois Chamber of Commerce. During her five years there, she led the organization to great success in the areas of business management, government affairs and economic development. Under Jackson, the Illinois Chamber improved sales functions through recruitment, training and development of customized computer applications.

In government affairs, the Illinois Chamber realized a 92 percent success rate in election of endorsed candidates. These successes lead to business reforms that saved Illinois businesses more than $1 billion annually.

International business development through trade missions and partnerships and the use of technology, including Internet applications, distance learning, and satellite broadcast business briefs, also were key to the organization's success under Jackson's guidance.

Before making the jump to Chamber leadership, Jackson served in Illinois state government for 16 years. She was director of government operations for Governor Jim Edgar and director of employment security under Governor Jim Thompson's cabinet.

Jackson earned her bachelor's degree from Southern Illinois University in 1973 and completed her master's work at Southern Illinois in 1975. She and her husband Mike reside in New Albany.

Franklin University

Franklin University provides student-centered, lifelong higher education in a global context, in partnership with the community, accomplished through excellence in teaching, appropriate technology and measurably effective learning.

Founded in 1902, Franklin University is an independent, not-for-profit metropolitan institution of higher education serving Columbus and central Ohio. Recognized as one of the top specialty business institutions in the nation based on its academic reputation, Franklin University enables working adults to achieve their professional and personal goals by offering applied majors at the undergraduate and graduate levels.

Annually, more than 5,000 students attend the University. Nearly 90 percent of the University's students are employed, with ages ranging from 18 to 70. The average age of our undergraduate students is 32; 35 for graduate students. The University is supported independently by tuition and the generous contributions of alumni, friends and the greater Columbus community.

Franklin University is accredited by the North Central Association of Colleges and Schools; the Technology Accreditation Commission of the Accreditation Board for Engineering and Technology; and the National League for Nursing.

Undergraduate Program

Open admission is an important element of Franklin University's undergraduate tradition and a major source of strength for the needs of an active student body. With morning, evening and weekend classes, including an Accelerated Learning Program (ALP) and an all-inclusive Saturday College program, our University fits working adults who manage career and family in addition to their education.

For those who are not employed, or are interested in working for an employer who supports lifelong learning, Franklin University's new EDUCATION+EXPERIENCE program provides the opportunity to earn a degree and employment experience with little or no tuition debt.

Franklin University is committed to innovative and responsive education at an affordable investment by offering the lowest tuition of independent colleges in Ohio. To serve our students better, the University continually assesses the needs of the business sector and responds with sound academic programs and the convenience of several suburban locations, including our Northwest Center in Dublin, our Southeast Location in Groveport, and our new North Center in the Worthington/Westerville area.

Franklin University offers undergraduate programs in the following majors: Accounting, Applied Communication, Banking, Business Administration, Computer Science, Employee Assistance, Finance, Health Services Administration, Human Resources Management, International Business, Marketing, Nursing, Organizational Leadership and Management, Process Management and Real Estate. Our Personalized Major Program combines two of our majors into one customized bachelor's degree program, and our new Technical Administration degree completion program provides business skills and leadership concepts to technically-trained individuals.

Graduate Program

In 1991, Franklin University began the planning of the Master of Business Administration Program with a clean slate. The weaknesses in existing MBA programs and the issues facing individuals and corporations in the '90s were used to design a graduate program that was exactly what businesses were seeking. Our research resulted in a fully integrated and efficient MBA Program that teaches people how to solve organizational and global challenges from a human perspective.

Franklin University's 24-month, evening MBA Program is taught by faculty with academic qualifications and business experience and is attended by current and future executives of central Ohio's most prominent companies. That mix of real-world business experience and academic credentials results in a contemporary and pragmatic MBA Program.

Unique features of our MBA Program include an artist-in-residence, who helps integrate the theories of creativity into the courses and case studies; and executive teams-in-residence, who help incorporate the latest business thinking and practices into the curriculum, producing competency-based teaching techniques. By infusing the business curriculum with content that awakens and promotes creative thinking and problem solving, Franklin University teaches students to think critically and remain open to possibilities.

Franklin University allows students to complete a joint BS and MBA in the areas of Accounting, Health Services Administration, and Organizational Leadership and Management through unique five-year programs.

And Franklin's new Accelerated MBA for International Students offers an intense day-time graduate program for international students that is designed to be completed in one year.

Academic Regalia

Identification of the hood and robe as academic apparel is believed to have originated at the English universities of Oxford and Cambridge during the 13th and 14th centuries. The hoods are thought to be carried over from the times when the monks who operated universities wore them to protect their shaved heads in winter. The robe also may have been necessary for warmth in the unheated buildings frequented by medieval scholars.

Use of the academic robe came to the United States in the 18th century. In 1895, a conference of various university officials adopted a universal code of design and color, which has undergone numerous revisions in subsequent years.

Robe styles vary for the bachelor's, master's and doctoral degrees. The width of sleeve borders and length of the hood increases with each advanced degree. The color of the velvet border on the hood indicates the type of advanced degree achieved.

Undergraduate Honor Cords

Gold signifies summa cum laude, 3.80 or above cumulative grade point average.

Light blue signifies magna cum laude, 3.60-3.79 cumulative grade point average.

White signifies cum laude, 3.40-3.59 cumulative grade point average.

To qualify for these honors, students must complete a minimum of 60 cumulative trimester hours in baccalaureate coursework or 30 trimester hours in associate coursework at Franklin University.

Red signifies transfer achievement, 3.40 or above cumulative grade point average.

Because a large percentage of students transfer from other institutions, those earning a bachelor's degree with fewer than 60 trimester hours from Franklin University and fewer than 30 trimester hours for an associate's degree are eligible for transfer achievement honors.
